Madame Yale's HAIR TONIC

Ladies and Gentlemen.—It has gone on record that Madame Yale's Excelsior Hair Tonic is the first and only remedy known to chemical science found to be a genuine hair specific. It has an affinity for the human hair for nourishing and insulating its entire structure. It is successful in character, as well as stimulating; its action upon the scalp and hair is truly wonderful, inasmuch as it has never been known in a single instance to fail to cure scalp diseases and to create a luxuriant growth of healthy, beautiful hair. It stops hair falling within twenty-four hours and brings back the natural color to gray hair in nearly every instance. It is not a dye; it is not sticky or greasy; on the contrary it makes the hair soft, youthful, beautiful and glossy; keeps it in curl. It is a perfect hair dressing, and can be used by ladies, gentlemen or children as a daily toilet requisite. Its influence is delightfully soothing.
All Dealers sell it, $1 per bottle. Mail order may be sent direct to the manufacturer,

CHINA HUMBLER.

She Appeals To Us To Effect
Peace.

This Government Will Probably Choose To Reject It.

Because The Celestials Haven't Acted So
As To Warrant It.

WASHINGTON, August 20.—The Chinese government, through Li Hung Chang, has made application to the United States for the appointment of Minister Conger, or some other American official, with authority to open negotiations for the establishment of peace and for fixing definite terms for the settlement of the present trouble. The application came to the Chinese minister today and was taken by him to the state department.

The American reply to Li Hung Chang's appeal has not yet become known. It will probably form one of the principal topics of consideration at the cabinet meeting tomorrow. There is good reason for believing that the appeal will be rejected, because the conditions stated in the note of the state department to China, on August 12th, have not been complied with. In that note, this government expressed a willingness to enter into an agreement with the other nations to stop the war, if the Chinese government would let the relief column enter Peking without molestation and escort the legationaries away under such circumstances as the foreign generals should decide. It is evident, from the latest despatches, that neither of these demands has been complied with. The allies are meeting with a stubborn resistance and there is no indication on the part of the Chinese government of sending a safe escort for the relieved legationaries away from the capital.

The Boxers Are Boxed In.
WASHINGTON, August 20.—The state department today received a cablegram, through Consul Fowler at Shanghai, from Consul Ragdale at Tien Tsin, saying that the Chinese troops are surrounded by the allied army in the palace grounds of the imperial city at Peking.

Left On The 13th.
WASHINGTON, August 20.—The acting secretary of state has made public a despatch from Consul Goodnow, of the 20th, saying that according to the governor of Shantung, the empress dowager left Peking on the 13th for Sman-Su.

They Have Escaped.
WASHINGTON, August 20.—It is clear from the despatches received today that both the empress and the emperor have made their escape from Peking and the imperial palace and enclosure are now serving only as an asylum for the demoralized Chinese troops, who are making a last desperate stand there.

Several Reports From Shanghai.
SHANGHAI, August 20.—According to Chinese advices from Peking, Yung Lu has been imprisoned by Prince Ching and the empress dowager and the emperor are sixty miles west of Peking, under the restraint of Prince Tuan, the Boxer leader. Li Hung Chang is to leave here immediately.

A Pig-Tail Defeat.
ST. PETERSBURG, August 20.—Count Orloff, chief of staff of the Russian army in China, reports to the Russian war office the defeat by the Russians of 7000 Chinese, after a hard fight, also the capture of Yuk-Shi and the burning of Meduchi.

More Troops Wanted.
LONDON, August 21, 2:30 A. M.—Owing to the interrupted telegraphic lines at Peking, little news from China has been received today. It is reported from Taku that urgent requests for more troops came from Peking last Friday and 400 Italian marines were sent forward at once.

Objects of Distrust.
LONDON, August 20.—Germany will send a detachment of troops at Shanghai. Germany and Russia are objects of distrust to the Japanese press.

ANOTHER WAR IMMINENT.
LONDON, August 20.—Referring to the tension between Roumania and Bulgaria, the Vienna correspondent of the Daily Press says that the Roumanian army is being mobilized on the frontier. King Charles, addressing his officers, said: "Gentlemen, be ready for war. It may come at any moment."

ABOUT NAVAL VESSELS.
WASHINGTON, August 20.—The Italian and Massachusetts are shortly to go to the League island navy yard, to be laid up for the winter. After the summer cruise of the North Atlantic squadron, the New York and Texas will probably go out of commission.

TO SUCCEED HEATH.
NEW YORK, August 20.—William N. Johnson of Hackensack, N. J., president of the New Jersey state senate, has been tendered and has accepted the office of first assistant postmaster general, made vacant by the resignation of Perry Heath.

STILL RAINING IN INDIA.
LONDON, August 20.—The viceroy of India, Lord Curzon, telegraphs that the rainfall continues and that the crops promise well. Over five millions of people are receiving relief in the famine districts.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.
WASHINGTON, August 20.—Forecast for New England: Local rains on Tuesday and probably Wednesday, light northerly winds.

GUEST OF THE PRESIDENT.
WASHINGTON, August 20.—Governor Theodore Roosevelt is the guest of President McKinley at the White house.

ROUTING THE ANARCHISTS.
BERLIN, August 20.—The German police have agreed to put a stop to anarchist meetings and four have been suppressed in Berlin. It is reported that 186 anarchists, of whom 103 were Italians, have been expelled from Germany since King Humbert's assassination.

A NORWEGIAN'S DEED.
PINE CITY, MINN., August 20.—A Norwegian named Pica took a girl eighteen years old and her brother to the river to fish. He drove the boy away, choked the girl into insensibility and threw her into the river. Then he killed himself.

BASE BALL.
The following is the result of the games played in the National league yesterday:
Pittsburg 2, New York 4; at Pittsburg.
St. Louis 7, Cincinnati 15, at St. Louis.

READVILLE RACES.
READVILLE, August 20.—Five thousand people saw the races here today. The Blue Grass stake, the principal event on the card, was won by Annie Burns, while the fast pace went to Gyp Walnut.

HOVEY FAMILY REUNION.
The Hovey family hold their reunion at Ipswich today. In the forenoon the family will meet in the historical rooms and from there will go to the public library for registration. After looking over that building, they will adjourn to the chapel of the Congregational church for organization, and a business meeting, after which they will sit down to dinner at the Agawam house, where the post prandial exercises will take place.
At 3:35 carriages will be taken and the parties will visit places of interest to the Hovey family. At 5:30 the steamer Carlotta will take the party for a trip down the river, returning in time for the party to get the cars for home.
The committee having the matter in charge are Rev. Dr. Hovey of Newburyport, Rev. Henry Hovey of this city, Edmund F. E. Slater, D. D., of Boston, Louis R. Hovey of Haverhill and George L. Hovey of Ipswich.

AN AUSPICIOUS OPENING.
Frankie Carpenter Starts the Season at Music Hall.

A theatre crowded to the corridor and three or four hundred people turned away from the box office window before eight o'clock, because the seating and standing capacity of the playhouse had even then been reached—such were the conditions attending the opening of Music hall for the season of 1900-01, by the Frankie Carpenter repertoire company, on Monday evening. But more agreeable far than the unusually large outpouring of playgoers was the fact that the performance presented was not disappointing. Indeed, it was one of the best exploitations by a company entering to popular prices that has ever used the Music hall stage as a medium.

The roster of the players is self-selective. Such names as Frankie Carpenter ("Star of the East"), Jere Grady ("the only one"), H. J. Cortright, John J. Shaw, Charles H. Stevens, D. S. Murdock, Ben W. Reed, Mabel Evelyn, Florence Mack and Ann Sylvester ornament any programme.

The bill was "49," an opener that never fails to satisfy when put on by people who know their business. It was in exceptionally capable hands on Monday night. Miss Carpenter and her consort, Mr. Grady, are a pair of winners by themselves, but when reinforced by such reliable thespians as those comprising their support this season, they are invincible as entertainers. Always popular in this city, the favor with which they have been received in seasons past will be emphasized in a marked measure before they wind up their week's engagement.

Of the individual parts, as they were taken on Monday night, it is idle to speak, for all are good roles in "49" and all were attended to with cleverness. Miss Carpenter was naturally the center of interest and bore herself with all her oldtime charm.

The concert orchestra which the company carries is a thing of delight and a joy forever. It is one of the smartest that ever filled in waits here. As special features, the programmes announce Waldo Whipple (comedian, singer and original flatfoot buck and wing dancer), Master Condon (the boy baritone) in illustrated songs, new moving pictures and "Frankie and Jere," with their pickaninnies, in songs and dances. These specialties proved very magnetic to Monday night's audience and will wear excellently throughout the week. The electrical effects ought to be heartily commended, while the costuming and scenic ideas are superior to most of the "rep" companies that Portsmouth sees. The dressing of the stage in the final act was especially fine. That the Carpenter company is not afraid to tackle plays demanding the best of talent and the most careful work, will be shown tonight, when the offering will be My Friend From India. In the endeavor to present this famous piece, many companies playing to dollar seats have fallen down wretchedly, but Miss Carpenter and her associates give a version which has been praised highly everywhere.

RAILROAD NOTES.
Hayden Shufeldt, brakeman on Conductor Law's train over the Concord branch, is ill, and William Marsh of Manchester is taking his place.

The tide of summer travel on the railroad has turned and people are getting home from the seaside and mountains. Train 44 from the east passed through this city on Monday noon in two sections.

The annual excursion of the Boston division, sixty-one, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, takes place Sunday, August 26th. The trip is from Boston to Portland and then by boat to the islands of Casco bay. The Maine engineers will take the trip and some may go from this city.

The morning train for Manchester, which leaves this city at half past eight o'clock, rather halted by the trains around the New Hampshire metropolis on Monday, by being ten minutes late. This train is not allowed to make up any time between Manchester and Manchester, on account of the many crossings.

HEDDING CAMP GROUND
Notes of Interest to Portsmouth People from our Correspondent.

On Saturday afternoon a lively ball game was played on the campus between a nine from Exeter and the Heddington nine. The result was a score of 26 to 6 in favor of the Heddington nine.

Sunday was a beautiful day and the camp ground never appeared more attractive, and many people drove to the grounds to enjoy the Sabbath in the balmy air of the pine groves. In the morning at 10:30 o'clock Sunday school was conducted in the Haverhill and Rochester chapels under the direction of Supt. Seth F. Dawson. In the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock services were held in Chautauqua hall, the grove being too damp to hold the service in. Rev. Dr. Chapman of Greenland preached a very interesting sermon to a well filled house. In the evening vespers were held in the hall, led by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Raymond.

Camp meeting begins Aug. 27 and closes Sept. 1.

Mrs. Freeman Marston and son were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lang on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Tyler and family of Newmarket, who have been stopping on the grounds for several weeks have returned home.

Many improvements are being made upon the grounds by the owners of different cottages. Miss Jennie Taylor is having an addition of a piazza and is reshingling her cottage on Perkins avenue. The Watto cottage is now owned by Prof. E. S. Riley, who is making improvements and has named the cottage "Minedola." A new and very pretty cottage is being built on Highland avenue by Howard Grover of Portsmouth.

The Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, editor of Zion's Herald, spent the Sabbath here with his family at the Wallace cottage.

Mrs. Wentworth, wife of Judge Wentworth of Rochester, has returned to her home for a few days.

The Rev. Mr. Hitchcock and family of Haverhill, Mass., have rented the Dow cottage on Hedding avenue and are located there.

This week is rather quiet, giving a week of rest between two busy weeks. The morning devotional service will be conducted each morning at 8:30 at Grace church chapel. It was led Monday morning by Rev. D. J. Miller.

A COUNCIL OF POWERS.

May Be Called to Sit on the Chinese Question.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY'S PROPOSAL.

He Wants It to Make a Permanent Settlement of Eastern Trouble. United States Will Not Agree to Disarmament of China.

Washington, Aug. 20.—President McKinley is considering the advisability of proposing to the powers the organization of an international congress, which shall sit in China and recommend to the several governments represented a permanent solution of pending questions.

This proposition is the development of that to send a commission to China to assess the damages sustained by citizens and the interests of the United States preliminary to the submission of a demand for reparation. The president recognizes that the duties which Minister Coger will be called upon to perform will be so exacting and arduous that it would be unfair to ask him to take the additional burden of discussing a method of settlement of the matters in controversy. That Special Commissioner Rockhill will be too busily employed in obtaining information and in communication with high Chinese officials to give time to them, and that the negotiations between the powers is likely to prove unsatisfactory and give rise to complications which might otherwise be avoided.

The proposition is, therefore, to send a third representative to China, who shall be charged with the work of dealing specially with the larger questions involved by the situation. The work he will have the assistance of Minister Coger and Mr. Rockhill. Who this representative shall be has not yet been determined, but he will be one of the strong men of the country.

Likely to Accept. Talks with diplomatic circles indicate that their governments would be willing to join in a congress for the settlement of the Chinese question, and Baron von Sternberg, the German chargé d'affaires in Washington, has been suggested as the representative of Germany.

Such a congress would discuss the character of the demands to be made against the present trouble and to indemnify the powers and their subjects for the damages which they have sustained. It would furthermore embody in formal convention the principle of the open door and make binding the promises given by the powers in their notes related to Secretary Hay some months ago.

Of course the governments would have the right to disapprove the action of their respective representatives, but as the latter would act under instructions it is safe to say that nothing would be determined which any of the powers could claim exception.

No final action in the matter of suggesting the organization of an international commission will probably be taken until the president has heard from Minister Coger and General Chaffee. Rear Admiral Remy says that there is an intervention in the wires between Peking and Taku, and until this break is repaired it is not likely that any messages from the American officers will get through. Meantime the president will continue to formulate his plan to effect a permanent solution of the pending questions. He does not intend to visit the United States to become embroiled with other powers at Shanghai, Newchwang or any other point. It is his purpose to steer clear of complications in every honorable way.

Object of Troops Accomplished. "The United States landed troops at Taku," said an official tonight in a distinctive phrase the result of the American minister and his staff and those under his protection. This purpose has been accomplished. Troops will not be landed at Shantung or any other point unless American interests are threatened. This has often been done in Central and South America.

It was stated yesterday that the United States would share in the disarmament of China if there were no other solution of the trouble. The official quoted above said and he was most emphatic that the United States wants no Chinese disarmament. The government has been exceedingly careful to avoid taking any action which would even cause such a suspicion.

"The United States has been open and above board from the first," he continued. "As soon as the president had framed his policy he announced it to the powers. The administration is still following that line and will continue to do so until the purposes therein expressed are achieved. Other powers formally assented to that policy, specifically declaring that they did not propose to disturb Chinese unity. This government will expect them to observe those declarations."

Archbishop Ireland Speaks in Rome. Rome, Aug. 20.—Yesterday being the feast of St. James, the patron saint, there was a large gathering at the Vatican of cardinals, bishops and presidents of societies. The pope, who was in excellent health and spirits, spoke at some length regarding matters of Catholic interest and then, with a complimentary introduction, invited Archbishop Ireland to address the assembly. Ireland addressed the assembly on the relations of the United States to the Holy See. Mr. Ireland, who was frequently applauded during a speech of 20 minutes, spoke glowingly of the fidelity of American Catholics to the Roman church and the Holy See. He described liberally the American flag and set forth the necessity of the pope as the head of Christendom being free and independent of any civil power. The address gave visible satisfaction. Mr. Ireland had a fine audience of the pope on Friday. He left Rome last evening.

Sergeant "Buck" Taylor Dead. Washington, Aug. 20.—Sergeant "Buck" Taylor, known as "king of the cowboys," a dashing cavalier and one of the best known of the Rough Riders, who was in charge up San Juan hill and accompanied General Roosevelt when he toured New York during the last gubernatorial campaign, has died at Providence hospital of consumption, the result of illness contracted during the Cuban campaign. A telegram was sent to Governor Roosevelt informing him of Taylor's death. Taylor's correct name is said to have been Berry F. Tatum. He was the son of a farmer well to do merchant of Montgomery, Ala. He was about 42 years of age and was employed as a copyist in the census office.

IRON HAND FOR BOERS.

Robert's Orders All Treated as Prisoners of War.

Protertia, Aug. 20.—General De Wet has appeared north of Commun Nek, 20 miles from here. He sent a flag of truce to General Baden-Powell demanding his surrender. This, however, was only a ploy to discover the strength of the British force.

General Baden-Powell, seeing the race and hoping to detain General De Wet, asked what terms would be given him if he surrendered. The messenger was equally sharp and, having learned the strength of the garrison, returned to General De Wet, who at once resumed his march northward without the formality of sending his terms to the British. General Baden-Powell is following him.

General Roberts has issued a proclamation canceling his previous order regarding oaths of neutrality and passes. Hereafter no oaths will be taken or passes granted, and all the burghers will be regarded as prisoners of war. Houses in which armed Boers find shelter will be liable to razing and farms used by the fighting burghers will be destroyed. Damage to the railways will be punished by fines on land. The reasons for this action are the lack of appreciation shown by the Boers and their misuse of the leniency shown them, they taking advantage of it to continue their resistance to the British, and the continual breaking of the oath of neutrality, which the government of the Transvaal, it is said here, has advised the burghers to ignore.

General Paigel has blown up with dynamite the pass at Home's Nek, ten miles from here. Yesterday he drove the Boers out of the surrounding district, 131 long four.

General Roberts has confirmed the award of the queen's scout to Trooper Charles G. Chadwick of Newry, who was chosen by the troops as most distinguished for bravery. Chadwick proved to be an American. He was one of the boat's crew who cut the cable at Santiago (Cuba) 1902.

The queen gave four scouts to be awarded for bravery, one each for representatives of the colored troops from Australia, New Zealand, Canada and South Africa. Africa's scout will therefore go to the United States.

General Kitchener has relieved Colonel Hoare, who was besieged by the Boers at Elmdale River. The besieged made a magnificent defense against the burghers fighting from the cover of a ravine. There were 50 casualties, most of them being slight wounds.

The case for the defense in the trial of Lieutenant Gordon of the Scots artillery, charged with being concerned in the plot to kidnap Lord Roberts, was called today.

Lieutenant Gordon's counsel admitted that the accused was guilty of breaking his parole and of attempting to plan a conspiracy, but he asserted that the attempt was a failure. Counsel also maintained that Gordon suggested the kidnapping and agreed to carry out the plan on grounds he asked the court to find that the charges had not been proved and begged its mercy for his client.

Gordon, who is said to be of American birth, denied having suggested the plot. Counsel for the prosecution will sum up today.

Attempt to Wreck a Train. Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 20. A driving attempt to wreck a train on the Lehigh Valley railroad was made yesterday. A heavy steel rail 30 feet long was placed on the track and a locomotive was run over it. The train was stopped in time to avoid a wreck. It required four laborers to remove the rail. It is believed the object of the men who placed the rail on the track was to wreck an express train and in the confusion that would follow to rob the safe in the express car.

John J. Ingalls' Funeral. Atchison, Kan., Aug. 20. Funeral services over the body of ex-Senator John J. Ingalls were held yesterday afternoon at Trinity Episcopal church, and subsequently interment was made in the family vault in Mount Vernon cemetery. The little church was filled with friends of the family. The exercises were very simple. Chaplain's funeral march was played as the coffin was borne into the church. The only members of the family and the pallbearers, young men, sons of old friends of the dead ex-senator, went to the cemetery. Ex-Senator W. A. Puffer, who succeeded Mr. Ingalls; Judge W. A. Johnston of the supreme court and A. A. Goldman, attorney general, were among those who attended the services in the church. Judge A. C. O'By, a close business and personal associate of Mr. Ingalls, estimates the ex-senator's fortune at $250,000.

Trouting Record Broken. Pittsburgh, Aug. 20. P. C. Kuy, a prominent member of the Allegheny county bar, yesterday broke the world's record of personally driving his trouting team, Wert and Dr. Lock, a mile in 2:10.9. The world's professional record was made in 1886 by Geers driving his team and Lady Mace's mile in 2:12.5. The only number of the family and the pallbearers, young men, sons of old friends of the dead ex-senator, went to the cemetery. Ex-Senator W. A. Puffer, who succeeded Mr. Ingalls; Judge W. A. Johnston of the supreme court and A. A. Goldman, attorney general, were among those who attended the services in the church. Judge A. C. O'By, a close business and personal associate of Mr. Ingalls, estimates the ex-senator's fortune at $250,000.

Fatalities in Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh, Aug. 20. Four drownings and one death by burning is Pittsburgh's fatal accident record for Sunday. Christ Paffenbach, aged 50, fell from a raft in the Allegheny river and was drowned. Edward G. Brillinger, 8 years old, fell from a raft while fishing in the Allegheny river and was drowned under and drowned before his father, who was a short distance away, could rescue him. James Gallagher and Hugh McGrady, boys, were drowned together while swimming in the Monongahela.

Weather Forecast. Generally fair and warmer; light northwesterly shifting to southwesterly winds.

An Earthquake Alarm. The Japanese are said to have discovered that a few seconds previous to an earthquake the magnet temporarily loses its power, and they have ingeniously constructed a light frame supporting a horseshoe magnet, beneath which is a cup of bell metal. The armature is attached to a weight, so that upon the magnet becoming paralyzed the weight drops and, striking the cup, gives the alarm. Every one in the house then seeks the open air for safety.

$25,000 EXPRESS ROBBERY.

Daring Theft of Money Package From a C. & D. and C. Car.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—The mystery of a $25,000 express robbery is perplexing officials of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad company, the Commercial National bank of Chicago and the Adams Express company.

The $25,000, which was in bills of large denomination, was shipped Friday morning by the bank through the express company over the Burlington road. Its destination was Burlington, Ia., and it was drawn to the account of J. C. Pease, the vice president and treasurer. Somewhere between Chicago and Burlington the package containing the money was opened, the currency abstracted, some folds of brown paper substituted and the parcel returned to its former appearance.

When the huge theft was discovered, there was consternation. No few persons had known of the withdrawal from the bank and the ensuing removal to the express car that the officials hoped at first that it would be an easy matter to trace the crime home. But up to last night no progress had been made by the score of more detectives detailed on the case. They found that the men on the run to Burlington were long and trusted employees, and suspicion was removed from the messenger at once. This has only made the affair more complicated.

Labor Unions to Leave K. of L. New York, Aug. 20.—Three of the largest local assemblies in this city are about to leave the Knights of Labor and attach themselves to the American Federation of Labor. The three are those of the letter carriers, stationary engineers and firemen. The letter carriers' local body has notified the national union of its intention, but will defer its application for a charter from the federation until the national body holds its annual convention, which will take place in Detroit on Labor day. The locals of the engineers and firemen have already made application to the national unions of their respective trades, which are affiliated with the federation, for a charter. The three organizations have a membership of 2,500 to 3,000. Protests have been made against the granting of the charters by the local assemblies of the same trades which are already in the federation.

Buried Miners' Bodies Found. Mahanoy City, Pa., Aug. 20.—After many hours of desperate battling with deadly white damp one of the successive rescuing parties succeeded in locating the bodies of George and William Thompson and Charles Little, who were entombed in the burning Primrose colliery. The bodies were found near the middle of the tunnel. They were lying in a heap. The 60 miles which were in the mine when it was discovered on fire are also dead and have been raised to the surface. The fire is still burning fiercely, and the mine officials are making every effort to extinguish the flames.

Cornish to Quit Athletics. New York, Aug. 20. The Journal says that Harry Cornish has written his resignation as physical director of the Knickerbocker Athletic club. A prominent member of the organization says that the resignation of Cornish will be accepted at the next meeting of the board of governors. Cornish will not only retire as physical director of the Knickerbocker Athletic club, but will sever his connection with athletics altogether. He has been refused to allow him to have another business in view, although he has refused to tell what it is.

Elmira Man Missing. Elmira, N. Y., Aug. 20.—No trace has been found of Charles F. Friedhold, the manager of the Elmira branch of the mercantile agency who disappeared on July 28. Dun & Co. have given notice that a new manager will be appointed for the Elmira office. It is said that Friedhold is short in his accounts, but this Manager Cook of the Rochester office, who is in temporary charge of the Elmira office, refuses to affirm or deny Friedhold's wife and two children are at their home here and say that they know nothing of his whereabouts and have not heard from him since his departure.

For Grand Army Commander. Chicago, Aug. 20.—Major Leo Raus, senior of St. Louis will be elected commander in chief of the Grand Army at the national encampment week after next. The other candidates for the place have one after another withdrawn from the race, and the only one in the field is the St. Louis man, who is now a judge on the bench. Unless the unexpected should happen Major Raus will have no opposition. The position belongs to the west this year in accordance with the accepted rule of rotation in office.

Columbia Rebels Surrender. Colon, Colombia, Aug. 20.—General Allain, civil governor and military commander of the department of Panama, telegraphs that he has received a dispatch from the rebels, who have agreed to surrender of the rebel forces under Vargas Santos, Poon Soto and Uribe at San Vicente. General Uribe escaped.

Forest Fires Do Great Damage. Encampment, Wyo., Aug. 20.—A forest fire near here has burned over a territory eight by ten miles in extent and now threatens the towns of Battle and Rambler. Two thousand sheep belonging to Frederick Gledes of Saratoga are dead, and the Mexican herder is missing and is believed to have perished.

Mother and Son Die of Hydrophobia. New York, Aug. 20.—Mrs. James Strathle of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., has died after suffering for a week from well defined symptoms of hydrophobia. A month ago Mrs. Strathle's son died of the same disease, both mother and child having been bitten by a playful puppy.

Grade Crossing Accident. Syracuse, Aug. 20.—A special dispatch to the Post-Standard from Fulton says that James H. Jones and Peter Flanagan of Oswego tried to cross the railroad tracks in front of a fast train. The carriages were struck. Flanagan is dead and Hagan is probably fatally hurt.

Sir William Ross Dies in Natal. London, Aug. 20.—The death is announced of Sir William Ross, M. P., at Pietermaritzburg, Natal. He was surgeon in ordinary to the queen in Ireland and professor of surgery at the Royal College of Surgeons. He was born in 1832.

THE CAPTURE OF PEKING

Officially Reported by General Chaffee.

EIGHT AMERICANS ARE WOUNDED.

Cable From Admiral Remy Says Japanese Reports Have the Emperor's Dowager Bombarded in the Inner City.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Is the dowager empress within the forbidden city? This question is being asked by officials of the administration as a result of the following dispatch received from Rear Admiral Remy under date of Taku, Saturday:

"Peking telegraph line interrupted. Information Japanese sources conveyed by Prince Yungde in inner city, which is being bombarded by allies. Chaffee reports entered legation grounds 14th. Eight wounded during day's fighting. Otherwise all well."

Minister Wu says that there is no "Prince Yungde," and he suggests that the person referred to is Prince Yung Lai, though he is disinclined to believe the report that the empress is detained, as he has information that the court fled westward before the arrival of the allies at Peking. Officials consider it extremely doubtful that the empress is in the forbidden city, as she undoubtedly fears that she would be harshly dealt with if captured.

Persons here acquainted with the Chinese say that the entrance of foreigners into the forbidden city would deeply shock the natives, but it is hoped that if such a step were deemed best the brilliant success of the allies would prevent any demonstration.

The fact that the telegraph wire is interrupted is not regarded as serious, though it is admitted that it may have been cut by the Chinese and that the force of the allies at the front is small. Military experts are confident that the Chinese are demoralized, and they do not anticipate any further organized resistance.

Two other dispatches relating to Peking were received here yesterday, one by Colonel Ward, acting adjutant general, from General Chaffee, and the other by Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, from Tokyo. The substance of the Japanese dispatch as received direct from Tokyo was published Saturday.

General Chaffee's dispatch, under date of Peking, Aug. 15, and Chifu, Aug. 19, is as follows:

"We entered legation grounds at 5 o'clock last night with fourteenth and eight batteries. Eight wounded during day's fighting. Otherwise all well."

Japanese dispatches indicate that the date "Peking, Aug. 15," is an error in transmission. They believe it should be Aug. 16, as all previous reports indicated that Peking was captured on Wednesday.

Cable From Bruce. Says Street Fighting Continues in Peking. London, Aug. 20.—Rear Admiral Bruce cables the admiralty from Chifu, Aug. 19, as follows:

"An informant on the authority of the admiral that street fighting still continues in Peking, part of which is on fire. 'Yang Sa prevented the progress from leaving, and a last stand is now being made in the inner city, which is surrounded by the allies and being bombarded.'"

Despite defeat, the Chinese are apparently resolved to make a desperate struggle not only in their ancient capital, but also in other parts of the empire. Chang Chi Tung, viceroy at Hankow, and Liu Kunyi, viceroy at Nankin, according to advices from Shanghai, have threatened the consuls that if the person of the emperor's daughter is not respected they will withdraw from their present friendly attitude.

Another Shanghai dispatch announces the death of Li Ping Hong, Cheng and Chang Li Lin in the fighting before Peking. The mandarins in the southern provinces according to a dispatch to The Daily Express from Hongkong, have issued an important proclamation recognizing the capture of Peking as a just punishment of reactionary officials and warning the people not to interfere with foreigners, but also pointing out that the object of the powers should be the punishment of the Boxers and then the restoration of peace, continuing, however, their operations to the north.

Suicide After a Quarrel. Paterson, N. J., Aug. 20.—Amie McLain took enough carbolic acid to kill a man, and she did so a few minutes afterward. She had quarreled with her husband at their home, 249 Market street, and she went to a friend's house at 35 West street, where she took a large vial full of the poison. When they were lovers, they were accustomed to arrange their meetings on Sunday mornings when the chimneys of St. John's church rang. They eloped five years ago and were married. Yesterday Mrs. McLain sent a note to her husband after leaving her home that if he did not meet her at 35 West street as St. John's chimneys were ringing she would end it all.

The note did not reach McLain in time to respond to the old time lover's signal, and the woman carried out her threat.

Louisiana Purchase Centennial. St. Louis, Aug. 20.—Plans for the resumption of work on the World's fair festival of $5,000,000, which has been so often interrupted, are under daily consideration by Chairman David R. Francis and William H. Thompson of the two principal committees. Ex-Governor Francis expects to sail for Paris about Sept. 15 and hopes to have things in such shape by that time that the fund will be practically complete. The traveling men, who have been among the active workers for the fair, have asked permission to locate their special building first.

CUBANS URGE EVACUATION.

Delegation Not Satisfied With Its Appeal to Mr. McKinley.

Washington, Aug. 20.—The Cuban delegation which called upon the president at the White House to plead for Cuban independence is not as hopeful or as well satisfied as its members stated in an interview after the close of the visit. Senor Cisneros, who headed the delegation, said in an interview:

"I do not believe that we could persuade the government here to leave the island, but it was our duty to make the appeal, and we have done it. Now we shall go back to Havana. The Cubans all over the island resent the manner in which the coming constitutional convention will be held. They are indignant that the Americans should assume to dictate the Cuban constitution, which may later be defeated. I do not believe that they would ever be satisfied with a constitution made under such pressure. For my own part, were I a delegate in the convention, I would walk out of it unless the American government would withdraw its attempt to control the constitution. Time only can tell whether a revolution against the Americans will be necessary should the present policy be continued."

"We shall never be satisfied with intervention. We want the Americans to leave the island to the Cubans, who are its rightful owners. I do not believe that they would ever voluntarily accept annexation. They want independence, complete and permanent. The military government now in charge is one of the worst possible administrations. Look at the Nedy scandal and see how the officials are acting; then you can know how the Cubans feel."

Shot His Father. Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 20.—James M. Burnham, publisher of The Wymoran at Wymora, Neb., shot and killed his father, Captain Collins A. Burnham, at their home. A court jury excused the son. Both father and son were prominent political workers in the county in which they reside. The killing was in self defense. The son gave himself up to the officers. Captain Burnham was a captain in the civil war and while a congenial man when sober he was a fiend when intoxicated. Many times he had threatened to kill all members of his family. The father came home yesterday morning and made an assault upon his son. He used a butcher knife, and after getting his son in a corner in the act of plunging the knife in his body. When there was no other alternative, the son drew a revolver and fired a shot which went through Captain Burnham's heart, killing him instantly.

In Memory of Humbert. Washington, Aug. 20.—Amid scenes of impressive solemnity and in the presence of the president of the United States, members of the cabinet, officers of the army and navy, the ambassadors and ministers of foreign countries and a great concourse of people from civil life the memorial services for the late King Humbert 1 of Italy were held at St. Matthew's Catholic church yesterday. The announcement of the services was made by the Italian ambassador, Baron Pava, and, with the co-operation of the state department, the event was given a distinctly official character. The foreign representatives were in full diplomatic uniform, and those, with the brilliant uniforms of the British, German, Austrian and other military attaches and of the American generals and admirals, gave a touch of brilliant coloring to the solemn pageantry.

Wreck Near Atlantic City. Atlantic City, Aug. 20.—Two cars of the Pennsylvania railroad train which left here at 10 o'clock last night for Philadelphia were derailed by entering an open switch just as the train was approaching the drawbridge across the Thimble Shoar. There were 800 persons on the train, and as the derailed cars bumped over the ties the passengers became panic stricken, and many jumped from the train into the mud along the tracks. No one was killed or injured. This is the same train that was nearly wrecked on Friday night by some one placing ties across the tracks a short distance from the scene of last night's mishap.

The Alleged Anarchist Plot. London, Aug. 20.—The Daily Mail says: "The arrest of Maresca and Guida in New York arose out of some letters received at Bresci's lodging subsequent to the assassination of King Humbert. One of these, dated New York, July 25, and signed 'Mabur,' urged Bresci to commit the crime, and that Maresca and Guida would do their duty toward President McKinley. Maresca is known to the Italian police as a most fanatical anarchist."

Severe Drought in Kansas. Kansas City, Aug. 20.—Two-thirds of Kansas west of the three easternmost tiers of counties is experiencing one of the most severe droughts in the history of the state, and the general opinion is that the Kansas corn crop will be the smallest in proportion to its requirements for feeding that has been raised in many years.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES.

Former President Ignacio Andrade of Venezuela, who was deposed from the presidency and succeeded by Cipriano Castro, the present incumbent, is dead.

Attorney General Davies has dismissed the charges preferred against Mayor James K. McGuire of Syracuse, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic state committee, by Attorney Francis Gill.

The jury in the case of ex-Secretary of State Caleb B. Brown, charged with being an accessory before the fact to the murder of William Goebel, returned a verdict of guilty, having been out only 53 minutes. The vote in favor of a life sentence was unanimous. When the jury retired, the belief was general that its members would fail to agree, and in this opinion the defendant himself was firmly convinced.

THE ORDEAL OF FIRE
MYSTIFYING RITES CELEBRATED BY THE ORIENTALS.

Walking With Bare Feet Over Flaming Stones and Emerging From the Pit Unburned—Dr. Hocken Saw This Done and Describes the Act.
Andrew Lang, who has written extensively on myths, rituals and strange human practices, has made a collection of stories that remind one of the experiences of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. In India, Japan and a number of the south sea islands a custom still survives which is known as the "fire walk." Sometimes it is prefaced with incantations, and it is usually followed by a feast. The religious part of the ceremony is conducted by priests. The origin of the custom, both in respect to time and place, is apparently unknown, but it is possible that the rite has now lost some of its earlier significance and detail.
The essential feature of the performance, at least from the point of view of the uninitiated, is walking barefoot over a bed of stones that have been rendered red or white hot by fire. The stones are laid at the bottom of an excavation like that prepared in New England for a Rhode Island gambler. Logs are set into suitable lengths and piled over the rocky foundation, and these are then ignited. From four or five hours to a day is consumed in this part of the preparation, which has been preceded, of course, by the work of digging the pit or oven and arranging its rocky foundation. The embers having been hastily raked off and a red-hot or white hot surface having been exposed, several men descend into the oven and walk more or less leisurely across the stones. In most cases they suffer no apparent harm.
One of the narratives was presented to the New Zealand institute in 1898 by Dr. T. M. Hocken and describes a scene which he witnessed in one of the Fiji islands—Mbeaga, 20 miles south of Suva. Through the co-operation of civil officers and the steamship company the small clan on Mbeaga that still possess the wonderful power was persuaded to give an exhibition, and several whites accompanied the doctor. One of them, a government meteorologist, carried a thermometer that would register up to 400 degrees F. When these guests arrived on the scene, they found hundreds of natives assembled in characteristic Fiji costume. The preparations had been undertaken long enough in advance to avert any delay. The oven was 25 or 30 feet long and 3 feet broad and was shaped like a saucer. The deepest part of the depression was 15 feet long. The visitors saw the stones yet covered with embers, which were removed in their presence by means of long poles bearing loops of green withes.
Walking beside the pit before this stage of the proceedings, the man with the thermometer recorded a temperature of 114 degrees. After the stones were uncovered he hung his instrument out over the center of the oven, six feet above the stones, whereupon the mercury rose to 282. The solder was melting, and the instrument was liable to be ruined if left in that position any longer. What the temperature was on the stones themselves can only be conjectured, but Dr. Hocken declares that they were "white hot" and that low flames from small coals between the stones could be seen leaping up around them.
Two of the men who were to walk through the fire were examined by Dr. Hocken before their daring act. They wore garlands about the neck and waist. Their feet and legs were entirely bare. The soles were soft and flexible, showing that they had not been rendered permanently callous in any way. In order to detect chemicals that might have been applied for this occasion the doctor did not hesitate to use touch, smell and taste. He licked the natives' feet with truly scientific zeal. But no explanation of that was to follow until he discovered. Finally, at an appointed signal, the seven or eight natives who took part in the performance came down in single file to the oven and then walked across the stones from one end to the other of the pit. They spent less than half a minute there. Immediately after they emerged Dr. Hocken again inspected their feet, but could find no sign of burning or blistering.
Another historian mentions a fire walk in which the passage was made no less than five times. Miss Teulra Henry recounts similar incidents in the Polynesian Journal, and adds that her own sister and a niece also walked over the stones. Mr. Lang picked up stories of the practice in Japan, where several women pretended to have done the same thing, although corroborative evidence is lacking.
An Englishman who tried the experiment himself, and was accompanied in his undertaking by three of his fellow countrymen, furnishes Mr. Lang with a short account. He is Colonel Gudgeon, British resident on one of the Society islands, Raiatea. The glowing stones on this occasion afforded a path 12 feet long. The act of walking over them preceded the ceremony of cooking the pit plant and was first performed by a priest and his attendant. They went down into the oven, bearing branches of the tree. On leaving the pit the priest offered a bifurcated branch to Colonel Gudgeon, saying, "I hand my power over to you." The attendant did the same to one of the other whites. The remaining two Englishmen held no ti branches, but merely walked behind Colonel Gudgeon.
Three of them escaped without harm. The fourth, who, by the way, looked backward, after starting, was somewhat burned. Green branches of ti were thrown on top of the stones an hour later and took fire; this fact afforded a hint of the heat. Yet Colonel Gudgeon says: "I felt something resembling slight electric shocks, and the tingling sensations continued hours afterward, but that was all. The tender skin of my feet was not even hardened by fire."
All such ventures do not result so happily. Several accidents are reported. At Benares, for instance, the walkers were burned enough on one occasion to be sore for two days. The Brahman master of ceremonies explained, however, that "the control of the fire was not so complete as usual, because the images of the sanctuary had been defiled by the touch of Mohammedans in the crowd." Subsequently at Benares, when sacred images were carried through the fire and a cocoanut was thrown into the oven, three Hindoos who were observing the spectacle ran against one another and fell into the pit. It is alleged that they escaped unharmed.

VOICES OF GREAT ORATORS.
How They Controlled Them In Impassioned Speech.
Henry Clay's reputation as a great public speaker arose largely from his sonorous voice and well rounded periods. Thomas Corwin, who was a greater speaker than he, dealt more in humor, of which he was the most conspicuous master that ever appeared in American politics. He always thought, not without cause, that his very readiness to convulse an audience with laughter detracted from his fame and gave the solemn, sonorous speaker, like Clay, great advantage with the reputation makers.
Caleb B. Smith had a lisp in his speech, which, however, was scarcely distinguishable in the rapid fire of his clear, soprano utterances. Smith was not great on the printed page, but as a popular orator on the stump he had no superior and few equals. Cassius M. Clay roared like a railway speeding over a trestle, but in the rumble his words were at a little distance indistinct. It was not so with Smith. As far as you could hear the ringing tones of his voice you could distinguish his words and follow the line of his thought, although he spoke with much greater rapidity than Clay. George W. Julian spoke slowly and distinctly. He was the best master of the weapons of irony and sarcasm the senate ever produced. A bitter word grew terrible as it fell from his lips.
D. W. Voorhees was the orator of lofty flight and startling simile. His voice could accommodate itself to every change of thought or mortification of feeling. He could strew flowers one moment or revel in the haunts of desolation and death in the next. His voice was his servant, and he was more the actor than the logician.
Morton was an image breaker. When other men wrought fanciful creations of frail materials, finished in beautiful patterns, his merciless logic, lightened by the wonderful depth and force of his voice, went crashing through them to make plain the truth which they had obscured.
The power of his voice was so great that when he used to read his keynote speeches, holding the sheets open in his hand before him, not one person in twenty of the thousands who heard him knew at the time or would afterward believe that he was reading a carefully prepared oration rather than speaking from the inspiration of the hour.—Indianapolis Press.
HE PLAYED ALL NIGHT.
A Funny Story About Camille Saint-Saens, the Composer.
Camille Saint-Saens, the brilliant French composer, an extremely nervous man, was at a large social gathering in Paris one evening when the host asked him to play something. He for a long time refused to do so, but, being earnestly pressed, he took his seat at the piano. His hair was tossed back, his eye gleamed with excitement. Now he would bend over the piano, then he would throw himself back, and all the while his fingers would run over the keys as he extemporized in the most brilliant fashion. The company were delighted.
After an hour pleasure gave place to weariness. Two hours afterward some of the guests began to leave. Their example quickly became contagious, and by degrees nobody remained in the room except the master of the house (the hostess had long since gone to bed).
Saint-Saens, more inspired and more tumultuous than ever, utterly unconscious of the incidents around him, played on and fast and as frenzied as ever. At last, about 2 a. m., feeling Saint-Saens playing with more ardor than ever, the master of the house, completely overcome with fatigue, became desperate and, laying his hand on the composer's shoulder, said, "I beg pardon, my dear sir, but pray are you not a little fatigued?"
Saint-Saens replied, without leaving the piano, "not in the least," and, to show how fresh he was, struck into a new improvisation with wilder enthusiasm than ever. The host gave up, stole out of the room and went to bed. At daybreak Saint-Saens rose, gravely bowed to the tables and chairs and went home, completely ignorant that the chairs and tables had been for hours his only audience.
The Maid of the Mist.
The story of how the famous little craft the Maid of the Mist falls is an interesting one. The boat, as has been the custom of her successors, was used to carry adventurous visitors up the Niagara river as near to the falls as was possible. On June 15, 1867, her skipper, having become financially involved, received word that the sheriff intended to seize his boat. He concluded to foil the minions of the law by shooting the rapids and prevailed upon two other reckless spirits to accompany him.
Those that witnessed the feat were thrilled at the sight. As the Maid passed under the bridge she gave a long leap downward and was almost buried from view in the foaming waters. She arose, however, with no great damage and flew into the whirlpool, a mile below, which was comparatively easy of navigation. She finally sailed down into the smooth water below Lewiston and escaped from the sheriff. The chances for successfully competing against the fury of the rapids are said to be 50 to 1, and the feat is recorded as one of marvelous and unprecedented daring.
A Silent Trio.
The fifth Duke of Devonshire and his brother, Lord George Cavendish, were noted for their taciturnity. Once, when traveling near Yorkshire, they were shown into a three bedded room. The curtains of one of the four posters were drawn. Each brother in turn looked in and went to bed in another of the three beds. Toward the close of the next day's posting one brother said to the other: "Did you see what was in the bed last night?"
"Yes, brother," was the reply.
They had both seen a corpse.
Coffee House Wit.
In a small lot of literary curiosities recently offered for sale in London was the following printed notice, which used to be exhibited on the walls of the Drury Lane Coffee House about 1822: "It is particularly requested by the company that those who are learning to spell will ask for yesterday's paper."

SOCIAL DUTY.
The doorman rings.
The porter calls.
My lady comes a-calling.
In velvet dressed,
Her veil close pressed;
The formal talk's appalling.
The style, the day,
The church, the play—
Whatever line she takes,
Ten minutes pass;
She says, "Alas,
Time flies!" and off she dances.
No real word said,
From heart or head,
No thought live in beauty.
Her list she checks;
What name's the next?
She's doing social duty.

HAIR AND CHARACTER.
Some of the Things a Barber Claims to Have Noticed.
Did you ever notice that people of very violent temper have always close growing hair? It is a fact that every man having close growing hair is the owner of a decidedly bad temper. It is enough for me to note at a glance how a man's hair grows. Then I know how to handle him.
Men of strong temper are generally vigorous, but at the same time they are not always fixed in their opinions. Now, the man with coarse hair is rooted to his prejudices. Coarse hair denotes obstinacy. It is not good business policy to oppose a man whose hair is coarse. The eccentric man has always fine hair, and you never saw a man of erratic tendencies who at the same time had a sound mind who was not refined in his tastes.
Fair hair indicates refinement. You may have noticed that men engaged in intellectual or especially in aesthetic pursuits, where delicacy is required, have invariably fine, luxuriant hair and beards. The same man, as a class, particularly painters, are always remarkable for their personal peculiarities.
The brilliant, sprightly fellow has generally a curly beard. If not his hair is curly. It's easy to bring a smile to the face of the man whose hair is curly. He laughs where colder natures see nothing to laugh at.
There is a great difference between coarse hair and hair that is harsh, though it requires an expert to distinguish it. For example, a man's mustache may be as fine as silk and yet cannot be trained to grow into a graceful curve. That's because the hair is harsh. Now, people whose hair is harsh have amiable but cold natures. They are always ready to listen, but it is difficult to arouse their feelings. In men of this disposition the hair of their heads is generally—in fact almost always—of a shade darker than their beards. When the beard is full, covering the entire face, the color varies from a dark shade near the roots to red, which colors the ends of the hair. These men have very rarely a good memory. They forget easily and often leave a case or an account behind them in the barber shop. They are great procrastinators and are bad at keeping appointments.
Think over your acquaintances and see if the man who is habitually slow has not a mustache or beard of a lighter shade than his hair. It's always the case. These are the men who come in late at the theater and get to the station just in time to miss the train.—Scottish American.
Betting in Chapel.
"I don't believe in this compulsory chapel attendance at schools and colleges," a young college graduate declared to a group of friends the other day. "I have never seen a school where there was more gambling among the students during one church service than there was at half a dozen ball games. They didn't post the numbers of the hymns, you know, and the boys used to bet on whether they'd be odd or even. The chances were about equal except at holiday services. Then, as they'd usually sing 'America,' which was No. 534, the backers of even numbers had to give long odds. I cleared what seemed a small fortune one Washington's birthday when the preacher upset the talent with an odd one."
"They don't play the game as much as they used to. A year or so after I left certain unscrupulous fellows got friendly with the organist and worked him for inside information, before services. As soon as this leaked out the better class of students quit playing the game. You would think that a church game ought to be on the level if anything is. But you never can tell, you see."—New York Sun.
Toole Kept Cool.
J. L. Toole was once acting in London, when one of his company failed to come in answer to his cue. Amazed at his non-appearance, Toole commenced to gag, and then repeated the last line of the original scrip with great emphasis. Still no actor. So, turning to the house, he remarked coolly, "As my friend T— does not seem in the slightest way anxious to turn up, I will, with your kind permission, sit down and rest awhile."
Then, amid the roar of laughter which followed the speech, Toole calmly took a chair and seated himself. A second later the tardy actor dashed on to the stage, taking up the cue, now long gone by, with the words, "I was detained."
"Thou sayest not so," remarked Toole gravely, rising. "I should never have thought it. Well, since you are here, we'll continue."
Mohammedans.
The number of Mohammedans has been estimated at 195,500,000. Of these 18,000,000 are under the rule of the Turkish government, 23,000,000 are ruled by other Mussulman sovereigns, 30,500,000 are subject to African princes, 20,000,000 live in China, and 30,000,000 are under other rulers. Of these last about 58,000,000 belong in India and Baluchistan.
Not the Worst Combination.

He—Of course; a concealed wife wouldn't put in all her time bothering about him.—Exchange.

"Have you ever loved before?" she asked, gazing at him tenderly.
"Oh, yes," replied the racing young man. "I've had four false starts. But this is a sure go now."—Philadelphia North American.

CHAMPION'S SHOES.
Dealers in Boston Never Sold the Articles, as Alleged Murderer Says.
Sheriff Usher B. Thompson of Newfields, passed through this city Monday evening on the way to Portland from Boston. He had been to the latter city during the day, trying to verify statements made by George Champion, the alleged murderer of the Goodwin family and Ired Bertsch at West Newfield, who is to be placed on trial for his crimes next month. Champion told the jail officials at Alfred that the shoes he wore at the time of his arrest were those which he had gotten in exchange for an old pair which he wore when he went to Boston two days after the quadruple murder. He says he went from the Union station to a store on Salem street, Boston, and made the exchange. Mr. Thompson told the Herald reporter that there was no one on the long list of dealers in shoes who could say that he had seen them before. All of the dealers said they had carried no such line of shoes at the time Champion speaks of.
While here the sheriff said Champion remains the same stoic since he was confined to the jail. He is growing fat and sleeps well. Instead of being nervous as the time approaches for his trial he seems to look forward to it as if it were to be a vacation, the sheriff says.
RALLY TONIGHT.
Kittery Republicans to Hear Gen. Grosvenor of Ohio on the Issues.
The first political rally to be held in this section will take place in Kittery this evening when General Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio will speak on the national issues.
Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio is a member of the national house of representatives, and is said to be spokesman of the administration in the house of representatives.
The speech will be delivered from the steps of the Rice public library building and the favorable weather makes a large attendance assured.
Good music will be furnished and the orator is certain to have a cordial reception.
SOUTH ELIOT.
SOUTH ELIOT, Aug. 21.
Miss Grace Reinick of Portsmouth passed Sunday in town with relatives.
Albert Wetherbee, a wife of Portsmouth, passed Sunday in town, visiting relatives.
Mrs. Charles McPhail of Medford, Mass., was the guest on Sunday, August 12th, of her parents, Richard F. Dixon and wife.
Mrs. Melvin Spinney of Chelsea, Mass., and children are visiting relatives in town.
Mrs. Henry B. Spinney of Chelsea, Mass., who has been visiting in town, has returned home.
Many people from here visited Hampton beach on Sunday.
Quite a contingent from here attended the lecture at Greenacre on Sunday.
Quite a crowd congregated at W. E. Spinney's store on Saturday evening and listened to the lively music furnished by a hurdy hurdy.
The Queen City is still carrying large crowds to and from Greenacre each day.
Harris Spinney and T. P. Staples & Co. are having telephones put into their places of business. Dr. H. I. Durgin is also to have his office connected for the convenience of his out of town practice.
Capts. Bowden and Robinson are on the lookout for a steamer capable of carrying 150 passengers, which they will put on the Eliot route, and to and from Portsmouth and the navy yard to carry the workmen.
Rentable houses are very scarce in town. Twenty new tenement houses here would find ready occupants.
Our people are anticipating eagerly the Kearsarge-Alabama celebration in Portsmouth. BOILING ROCK.
POLITICAL PICK UPS.
Col. R. N. Elwell was at home over Sunday. He reports that his candidacy is gaining in strength daily and that some of the delegations given to Dr. Greene or said to be unpledged, are in favor of him.—Exeter Daily Gazette.
At the republican caucus at Fremont Saturday night Greene and Collis delegates were elected.
The towns of Rockingham county along the Massachusetts state are quiet politically and there is little discussion among them of state and national issues. Canvases have not yet been called and only a small number of would-be candidates have announced themselves.

WHERE MY TREASURE IS.
Lord of the living, when my race is run,
With that I part beneath the risen sun,
Suffer my sight to dim upon some scene
Of thy good green.
Let my last pillow be the earth I love,
With fur infinity of blue above,
And fleeting, purple shadow of a cloud
My only shroud.
A little lark above the morning star,
Shall shrill the tidings of my end afar;
The muffled music of a lone sheep bell
Shall be my knell,
And where alone herons tread the moor of old,
Where bygone wolf howled round a granite fold,
Hide thou beneath the heather's newborn light,
My endless night.

PERIL OF CHLOROFORM.
Mrs. Dorey Determined to Save Her Husband From Anxieties.
"And how is the land today, darling?" inquired Mr. Dorey fondly.
"Oh," sighed Mrs. Dorey, "the pain has been something frightful. I have had to send for the doctor. He is coming to lance it. I expect him here every minute."
"My own brave little woman!"
"Not so very brave, either. I am going to take chloroform."
"Oh, Amorella, don't, please!"
"It won't cost so much more."
"As if I thought of that!"
"You want to see me tortured, then. After only two months of marriage!"
"How can you talk like that, Amorella? Why, don't you know? Sometimes people die under chloroform."
"You say that just to frighten me. But I don't care. I'll risk it. Ah, here's the doctor! You will give me chloroform, won't you, doctor?"
"Certainly! I have come prepared."
"And you assure me there is no danger?"
"None whatever."
"My husband here has been trying to frighten me with stories of people dying under the influence."
"Ah, but not where the medical man thoroughly understands the patient's constitution. Here, Dorey, take hold of this sponge. By the way, I was administering it yesterday to an old patient of mine, and really he was most amusing."
"Yes?"
"The way the old fellow talked about his early life affairs! He gave himself away dreadfully. It was great fun!"
"What did he say, doctor?" inquired Mrs. Dorey anxiously.
"Excuse me, I ought not to repeat it."
"He knew, of course, that only you were there?"
"Oh, if the whole city had been there, it would have been all the same. Are you ready now, Mrs. Dorey?"
"Will it hurt very much, doctor—the lancing?"
"With the chloroform you won't know anything about it."
"Don't you think I might manage to bear it without any?"
"Better not try. You might faint."
"Hushes, Amorella, the doctor says there is no danger in your case."
"No, no, no! I want to show you men how a weak woman can bear pain."
"But just now, darling, you were determined!"
"Yes, dear, but I have been thinking. You would be here all the while, and you would be so anxious."—Smart Set.
Moody's Method With Boreds.
Some of Moody's meetings were "open" in the sense that any one so disposed was at liberty to speak or pray. But on important occasions he knew very well beforehand who were likely to take part in the meeting, and some of the most delightful surprises were what Artemus Ward would have called "prepared impromptus."
Of course he was beset by "cranks," but he faced them with great courage. When a speaker was taking breath, he would give out the next hymn as naturally as if the man had finished. I have heard him say to a speaker who had scarcely commenced what he had intended to say: "Now, sir, that is perfect. If you add a single word you will spoil it. Let us sing No. 123."
When provoked beyond measure, he could be very severe. An Australian evangelist had told a long story of his own glorious doings and of the opposition he had everywhere encountered. As he sat down Mr. Moody remarked: "I can tell you why they opposed you." "Why?" "Because you spoke too much about yourself." This was said in a crowded meeting.—Christian Intelligencer.

DECIDE YOURSELF.
The Opportunity is Here, Backed by Portsmouth Testimony.
Don't take our word for it. Don't depend on a stranger's statement. Read Portsmouth endorsement. Read the statements of Portsmouth citizens.
And decide for yourself.
Here is one case of it.
Mr. George W. Lord, of 44 Congress street, says:—"Occasionally I had an attack of lame back and pain in the loins. The last was caused by simply moving a small stand, as I was retiring for the night. I felt it all through me, causing a sort of nausea, a disagreeable sensation in the head, tenderness over the loins, backache and trouble with the kidney secretions. At first the pain was acute, then it settled down to a dull grinding ache. I happened to read something about Doan's Kidney Pills. The recommendations were so positive and the representations were so convincing I concluded to try them and went to Philbrick's pharmacy and got a box. I only took a few doses before they relieved me. The second night after taking them I was able to sleep soundly all the time. Soon I was quite free from the aching, lameness and other inconveniences."

New York's race riots may be of some little assistance in the big city's efforts to be considered cosmopolitan.

It seems almost a sacrifice for any one to suggest that golf may eventually fall into decline, as croquet did.

It is a relief to note that Senator Clark's check-book seems to be taking a few weeks of much needed vacation.

English has an advantage over the Chinese language in diplomacy by being straight to the point and never obscure.

Field Marshal von Waldersee needs to be not only a brave man and a skillful general, but a very cautious diplomat as well.

Kaiser William has ordered a new automobile. If he tries to run it himself it may have the effect of moderating his self-confidence a little.

If the silver question could be regarded as finally disposed of, it might be well to look after the free coinage of gold medals by the Paris exposition.

The English are bestowing a few words of praise on the solidly qualities of Gen. De Wet. But these compliments never make the finish any milder or less certain.

China begins to realize that it wasted its time building walls and shooting firecrackers when it ought to have been writing "honesty is the best policy" in a copybook.

It looks as if Minister Wu were going to come out of the situation with as small a sacrifice of his exceptional popularity as would be possible with anybody under the circumstances.

A siren phonograph has been invented, so it is said, which can shriek articulate language a distance of ten miles. This would enable a speech by Webster Davis to be set off from the roof of a central building in Kansas City, and force every man, woman and child within a radius of ten miles who does not hide in the cellar to listen to the flow of the tremulous orator. Just think of his peroration on "liber ty" being sounded over the city with the volume of a packing house whistle. If that terrible machine were turned loose, loaded with Davis' appeal in behalf of the Boers, it would cause strong men to gasp and fall upon the street like stricken sparrows. Surely the common council will pass a law at once prohibiting the use of the siren phonograph. Use it on the Chinese, but not on offensive American citizens.

"THE AMERICAN BOY" FOR AUGUST.

The American Boy for August is full of matter fascinating to boys, containing as it does it a railroad story, a farm story, a roller coaster story, a "boy soldier" story, the sixth chapter of "The Cruise of the Yacht Gazelle," a boat manned by four boys, who took a six thousand mile trip in a boat of their own construction, the third chapter of "A Boy Pusher," an illustrated account of the little son of Edison, the great inventor; a chapter on "The Boy Travel-

THE DAYS OF LONG AGO.

Editor of the Herald.—The communication you publish from an absent "Son of Portsmouth" who searches in vain for information as to an announcement of a Home Week for a return of absent ex residents, is no doubt assented to by hundreds if not thousands exactly. Over 100 illustrations. $1.00 a year. Sprague Publishing Company, Publishers, Detroit Mich.

Ex-residents who have established themselves elsewhere may well consider that our present population is not the same as that of forty years ago, consequent upon a change of industries, the death of thousands, many sadly missed, the birth of the other thousands, and the incoming of many, who having missed the reunions of 1853 and 1873, have no fond remembrances of those joyous occasions. These now elements rule our politics, control the principal business establishments, and have no more sentiment than other people have. It is not to be expected that they will voluntarily resurrect the enthusiasm which characterized a generation which they never knew. They have never memories.

The shades of past glories can never do their work over again. Dear old "Uncle Ben" Shillaber, who originated the idea of the first reunion; his warm-hearted Boston confederates, Edwin A. Peterson and the impulsive and impetuous youth who entered heartily into the matter from far away New York; Frank W. Miller and William H. Sise, who were afterward made mayors of Portsmouth, and Charles W. Gardner, who was historian of the 1873 reunion, and published a handsome volume at the time; the Goodwins, Hooketts, Walkers, Martins, Adamses, Freemans, Baileys, the Bartletts, the Fernaldes, and Norrons, others of the old families, have lain down to rest, and their successors in the field they so creditably occupied have not taken action indicating interest in the matters that interested their predecessors. They have personal affairs pressing more emphatically on their attention, while the few survivors of the olden time can but wait the passage of years, because they are no longer juveniles.

Meanwhile, it is his high privilege to attend the Kearsarge Alabama festivities (though they do not come on the anniversary of the old reunions;) rejoice at the improvement at Puddle dock, in fact, express their thanks to Alderman Joshua M. Vaughtan as one of the worthy public men they left behind, and meet at the city building, old Jefferson Hall, and there resolve with native residents to form an association which shall have for its object the bringing together of the sons and daughter of Portsmouth by grand reunions on July 1, 1903, 1923, 1943, 1963, 1983.

And they shall see the finest fighting force and the most efficient police force in New England, and such displays of fireworks as were never made when they were allowed to kick flaming tar balls through the streets. And then, they will meet Dewey, McKinley, Miles, Schley, Sampson, Long, Hackatt, Rollins, et al., including the merry tars and marines from the North Atlantic squadron. What further inducement can be offered? First come, first served. Send in your intentions! A SON OF PORTSMOUTH.

CITY BRIEFS.

No arrivals at this port today. No police court this forenoon. Dover has a "Hugging Tom." Now for the campaign speeches. It is again quiet in shipping circles. The tides continue to run very high. And still the plans for the celebration boom.

The rural birds are in for a lively season. An occasional leaf has taken on its autumnal hue.

Today has been another lively one for the merchants.

There will be a hop at the Ocean house at York this evening.

Monday evening's sunset was a beautiful display of cloud painting.

The golden-rod waves for Republicanism beside every highway.

This week sees the tide of travel at the shore turn the other way.

Senator Chandler was among the summer visitors seen on the street today.

The trains on the Manchester road are very heavy recently and are running late.

There will be another excursion from Manchester to Hampton Beach in two weeks.

The evenings are growing cooler and wraps and jackets are worn quite commonly.

The handsome steam yacht that has been off Badger's island, has left the harbor.

On Wednesday, the Boston baseball club begins a series of thirty games at home.

The recent rains have turned the grass from a burnt straw color to a vivid green.

The school children are counting the days to the opening of the fall term next month.

Gen. Grosvenor who speaks in Kittery this evening, spoke in Lewiston on Monday evening.

Tramps are numerous in Kittery and Eliot and the farmers are badly annoyed by the boboes.

The battleship Kearsarge was seen to pass the Shoals on Monday on the way from Rockland to Boston.

The press club would like another game of ball with some team, their late opponents being preferred.

Special inducements have been made to members of the chorus at the Hampton music festival this week.

About two hundred made the special trip from this city to Kittery and York after the show Monday evening.

The sad death of Miss Foster brings forth many expressions of regret from everyone acquainted with this most highly respected lady.

Mrs. Helen Weil of Cambridge, Mass., will give another reading at the Shoals today, on "Pompala" (The Ling and the Hook.) by Robert Browning.

Boarding house keepers complain that they cannot make any money because of the high prices of about all kinds of food.

Base fishermen in the smaller ponds of the county report that they are having fine luck this year and show many good strings as a proof of their stories.

Accidents come with distressing frequency on the farm. Cuts, bruises, stings, sprains. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil relieves the pain instantly. Never safe without it.

The members of the local police department have received invitations from the Portsmouth department to attend a clam bake on the shore Wednesday. Some of the Manchester bluesos may take in the trip.—Manchester Union.

Two young men of Kittery were before the Kittery police court this forenoon on a charge of malicious trespass and Judge Neal discharged them. S. Peter Emory of this city appeared for the respondents.

The clearness of the weather on Monday was greatly appreciated by all the tourists along the coast, and the shore line trolley cars were crowded with summer visitors from the hotels, who were brought forth by the beautiful sky and refreshing breezes.

A drive into the country shows an entirely different condition of affairs from that which prevailed before the rains. Two weeks ago the pastures looked as though they would never bear another blade of grass, but now they have picked up wonderfully and appear as green as in springtime.

Fishermen at the Isles of Shoals report that large schools of mackerel have been seen about the waters around the islands and that several large hauls have been made. E. Newton & Co. are among the most fortunate, having taken several barrels of mackerel Monday. Sword fish at the Shoals have been very scarce this season. Large catches have been reported in former years.

"EVERYBODY'S MAGAZINE" FOR SEPTEMBER.

From cover to cover the contents of Everybody's Magazine for September are the most interesting of any issue of that remarkable periodical yet published. In praise of the cover itself too much cannot be said of the beauty of its design, which is not only effective but quite original; the march of improvement in the process of printing is nowhere better shown than in this specimen of multi-color work. A new short story by S. R. Crockett, entitled "A Sentimental Symposium" is written in his peculiarly delightful manner; the reader looks at the characters drawn, through the spectacles of the good natured, quizzically observant physician who tells the story, and the doctor does not hesitate to turn X rays on human foibles. "How a Great City Is Cleaned" is the subject of a very interesting article, and "Oyster Farming" is the title of an article in the Great American Industry Series, and its pages contain much more of greater general interest than would be imagined by the uninitiated. The "Simple Explanation" of the month is of "The Light of the Sun," which subject affords a great deal of simple and entertaining instruction. Among other illustrated stories and articles, of which there are many, are "Artists' Models," beautifully illustrated with photographs; the continuation of Stuart Robinson's delightful autobiography, "A Lucky Hazard" by Mary Moncreux Parker, and "Queen Victoria and Her Family as Artists," with illustrations from drawings by the Queen and her daughter, the Empress Frederick. Altogether a great ten cents' worth!

EUREKA TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The Eureka tennis club will hold their annual tournament for the championship of the city next week, beginning Monday morning, Aug. 27, at nine o'clock. The championships will be in gentlemen's singles, gentlemen's doubles, and mixed doubles, the winners in the tournament to be the challengers of the present champions in those classes.

CORONER'S JURY HEARS TESTIMONY.

The jury summoned by Coroner Elder to consider the death of Miss Sarah H. Foster, through the agency of an electric car, on Middle street, Sunday evening, met Monday afternoon, visited the spot where the accident occurred and viewed the body of the victim at her late home on Richards' avenue. In the evening, several witnesses were examined at the police station.

Evidence was given by John Hutchins and J. F. Hill, motorman and conductor respectively of the car which struck Miss Foster, and also by a number of passengers who were riding near the front of the car and saw the mishap.

The testimony served to show that the motorman did all in his power to prevent the accident, but that Miss Foster, while levelliered, stepped directly in front of the car, when it was less than five feet distant. The jury, which is composed of E. L. Guptill, Dr. G. Scott Locke and W. L. Fogg, will probably reach a verdict this evening.

COMMITTEES CONSOLIDATED.

The finance and subscription committees of the Kearsarge-Alabama celebration have been consolidated, in order to better concentrate endeavors and facilitate results. Of the new joint committee, the chairman is W. L. Conlon, Howard Anderson is treasurer and W. L. Conlon and Charles Shillaber are auditors. At a meeting on Monday evening, there were present Messrs. Shillaber, Conlon, Anderson, Andrew P. Preston, H. C. Hewitt, J. K. Bates, C. R. Oxford and J. H. Wells. Such an attendance indicates convincingly the live interest that is being taken in the coming event.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Mr. Corey's late brother was of the firm of the Roebblings, the manufacturers of ropes and cables and the builders of the Brooklyn bridge.—Manchester Mirror.

BASE BALL SATURDAY.

The Portsmouth base ball team will play the Amesburys on the local grounds Saturday, Aug. 25. The Amesburys are composed entirely of professional players, and have such men as "Jack" Leighton, formerly of the Portsmouth New England league team; "Tommy" Niland of the old Amesbury team and later in the national league; "Tippy" Sheehan of the old Haverhill Gazette team and later with Portland New England league team, and Dorsey of Saginaw, Western league.

Walter Woods and Wilbur will be the battery for Portsmouth and Pagum, Boston college, will pitch for Amesbury and Millerich of Syracuse Eastern league will pitch.

NEW DOCKS.

The navy department is considering the reports of boards of naval officers detailed to determine the increased cost of concrete over wooden docks, which are to be built by one firm at Mare Island and League Island navy yards.

The contractors desire to make a statement, and this privilege being accorded them has resulted in a delay in adjusting the cost.

PROF. OLDRIEVE HURT.

His Wife Also Struck By a Train at Lynn and Badly Injured.

Prof. Charles W. Oldrieve, the professional waterwalker, who gave a lot of interesting exhibitions on the Piscataqua river and at Channey's creek and at York, and his wife were struck by a train of the Boston, Revrs Beach and Lynn railroad a short distance below the Point of Pines Saturday night, and both of them are now at the Lynn City Hospital, Mrs. Oldrieve having a fractured pelvis. Prof. Oldrieve and his wife were walking the Pines river bridge and had reached the center of the bridge when the train that is due at the Pines at 9.30 o'clock came along.

The couple were struck and thrown into the water. The train was immediately stopped and the couple were rescued. They were taken to the Pines station and put on a train bound for Lynn. When the train arrived at Lynn an ambulance was waiting to take them to the hospital.

Mrs. Oldrieve was suffering greatly when she reached the hospital. Her husband escaped with only slight injuries, although he was badly shaken up.

The fact that two trains were near that place, bound in opposite directions probably saved them from instant death as the train that struck them was going slowly in order to pull into the Pines station after the other train had left.

THE POLICEMEN'S OUTING.

There will probably be eighty or a hundred participants in the outing of the police department at Newington tomorrow. Each officer has the privilege of inviting two friends, and many policemen from other cities in the state are going, as well as members of the press. A base ball game will be one of the features of the afternoon, but Bob Green's bake will of course form the piece de resistance of the great occasion. The party will go up in barges.

BIG CATCH OF MACKEREL.

The steamer Pet, which came here on Monday morning made a big haul of mackerel on the way back to Newburyport and landed 2000 beauties, which were secured off Plum Island, just before the vessel made the harbor. The fish found a ready sale on the wharf. The fishermen report that mackerel continue quite plenty in these waters along the coast.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

The receipt of thirty dollars, from Miss M. Bemick of Everett, Mass., through J. T. Langton, is hereby gratefully acknowledged.

ASTOUNDING THE EDITOR.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennington, Vt., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver. For indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at Globe Grocery Co.

A NEW CLUB.

A new club has been formed by the small men of our city. No one over five feet, four inches in height and weighing over 135 pounds is allowed to join. This club is to enter into all kinds of athletic sports. They will be pleased to meet some of the representatives of the fat men's club and arrange for a base ball game at some not far future date.

HURDY GURDY PARTY.

The clerks at French's had a hurdy gurdy party at Newington on Monday evening. About seventy-five persons were present. Dancing was kept up until eleven o'clock. Miss Helen Gies acted as floor director and her assistant was Miss Grace Rand. The party returned to the city about midnight.

A BID FOR HEDDING.

It is within the possibilities that Hedding may spring into one of the liveliest summer resorts in this section of the state, before many more seasons. The Methodist Camp Meeting association, which owns the premises, is considering an offer of $6000 from private parties for the property. The people who wish to get hold of the place would connect it with Exeter, by trolleys, and put up a big hotel at Vincent Rock.
